Army as Part of Prison Work—Dr. Gilmore Speaks.

Dr. J. T. Gilmore, Warden of the Central Prison, Toronto, is well known as a staunch friend of the Staff Band's recent visit to the prison, he again testified to that fact, in an eloquent address. He said, in part—

"The Salvation Army Band and Officers have come here to try to make the holiday season a little brighter for each one of us. (There present.) This is nothing new for The Army; for we receive so much help and guidance from them, that we have come to look upon them as quite a part of our institution."

The Warden then repeated a statement of a few months ago—that he would not care to be connected with reform work unless he had the assistance of The Army. He added a word of commendation for the work of Major Fraser in connection with the prison. "He can do so much better than I can," he said. "Dr. Gilmore, seeing the name of Fraser Ernest Pugmire on the pro- to-gramme, referred to the years of the prison work, the assigned father, the Prison Work, and whose name (the Warden said) was still remembered and beloved within the prison walls."

THE POWER OF PRAYER.

Gratitude, Enjoyment, and Devotion

While secret prayer has been meant and drink to my soul in my get into touch with the Lord at all times, for He has to me become a personal Friend, myself and husband are to-day spiritually we owe to a very great extent to Family Prayer.

"When a young girl I made up my mind if ever I had some of my own, it should be a happy one, and it is through Family Prayer, the great measure, that our home is such."

On the night I was married, nine years ago, I started Family Prayer, and have continued it ever since. It is a source of blessing and strength to us both. We love it and feel that home would not be home without it—Sergeant Mrs. T. House, Dovercourt.

PRAY WITH YOUR FAMILY?

Experiences Wanted for "The Cry." Many "War Cry" readers must have helpful things to relate concerning their own experiences of family worship, and we earnestly invite them to tell us how they have overcome the difficulties arising from their crowded lives, how it has come to them themselves, and what it has done for their children.

ARMY PAID FINES.

And Brothers Had Sweet Liberty. (From the Hamilton "Herald.") Every morning the Police Court, a representative of the Staff Band, Army watches the proceedings, looking for cases in which that Organization might be able to assist. Many a man is set on his feet again, and many a woman, directly to the path which she should tread, by the intervention of this Society.

The morning (December, 31st) the Army's representative had a little surprise up the sleeve. Four of the five drinks who were fined were unable to pay.

Heart-to-Heart Talks. (By Mrs. Blanche Johnston.)

Oh, for the trust that brings the triumph,

When defeat seems strangely near.

Oh, for the faith that changes fighting into victory's ringing cheer;

Faith triumphant, pressing upon the words, so often and suggestively repeated in some of the most beautiful records of Christ-

As I once more read in that chapter of deeds wrought and victories

Coy the blessing of Full with joy is quite the contrary that is one question; another is, "Do you openly confess Through the straightforward words of simple men and women, thousands of the world have been led to the glorious light of this hope, and followed it out of the life of sinning and repenting on a Highway of Holiness. But for testimonies, what would have been to those lives?"

In the surest way of losing the blessing is to say nothing at all to hide it under the bushel of what men think or say, and indeed retain it without being freely. Beside, "We do well, this day is a day of good news, and we hold our peace."

EASTER ON LAND AND SEA.

We go to press news reaches us of terrible calamity in Japan, by which it is certain a multitude of lives have been lost. The estimate placing it at nearly 200. After sleeping for 130 years, great volcano Sakurashima burst forth activity, totally destroying the town of Koshima, with its 200 inhabitants. Three villages on island of Sakurashima were also destroyed by molten lava, and it is said there 15,000 inhabitants perished. It is the worst volcanic disaster since the sudden and overwhelming destruction of St. Pierre, Mont. Pelée.

Coming nearer home, it is feared that the steamer, Colborne, on her return from St. John, has been wrecked on the dreaded ledges of Grand Manan, in the tempestuous bay of Fundy. There were a hundred or more people on board, and nearly all were from the crew, coloured women coming to Canada for domestic service. There is still some possibility of the ship's being saved, and until that is cut off, we are hopeful.

For all the sufferers by these sudden calamities great sympathy will be felt, and we trust, ready help will be forthcoming. Their powerful voice of warning as to the uncertainty of earthly life speak not only to you and to me.

Great Missionary Party.

FAREWELL IN STOCKHOLM OF SCANDINAVIA'S SPLENDID GIFT OF 100 OFFICERS TO MISSIONARY FIELDS.

Led by The General and Mrs. Booth.

OTHER MEMORABLE GATHERINGS IN COPENHAGEN AND CHRISTIANIA.

(By Cable.)

The General and Mrs. Booth conducted a four-days' Missionary Congress at Stockholm last week, receiving from the hands of Commissioners Hellberg and Ogrin and Colonels Povlsen and Larsson a party of one hundred Scandinavian Officers for our Missionary Fields.

In spite of the bitter weather, great crowds filled our own Temple and Stockholm's largest church—the Emmanuel Church.

This is the largest Missionary party ever raised in Scandinavia, and includes Officers for India, Japan, Africa, and South America. Their testimonies of God's leading and call made an enormous impression on all hearts, showing what mighty struggles of faith and resistance and doubt mark the lives of those who seek to walk in the light, and to steadfastly honour Christ. Some of their stories of pangs of heart-sorrow turned to joy were like pages of romance.

The Mercy Seat was crowded again and again with seekers for salvation and those desirous of giving their life to God.

The General's announcement that he hoped to raise another party of one hundred from the United States and Canada was received with great interest.

On Sunday the General continued the Campaign in Copenhagen, and Mrs. Booth in Christiania, amid wonderful scenes of holy enthusiasm and tears of sorrow and gladness. There was splendid fighting and glorious Pentecost results.

The Army in these northern lands is a necessary part of the people's life and progress, and the work is bounding forward.

COMING TO TORONTO IN MARCH.

SPECIAL EFFORTS IN BIGGEST CITIES.

To-Lecture in the Massey Hall.

We are pleased to announce that Commander Miss Booth has consented to re-visit Toronto during the month of March for the purpose of giving her stirring lecture on the life, character, and work of her father, the revered Founder of The Army.

Wherever Miss Booth has spoken on this attractive subject immense crowds have dwelt upon her words, and we are sure Toronto comrades and friends will rejoice at the prospect of hearing her for themselves. The date of the Commander's visit is Tuesday, March 10th, and the Massey Hall is already engaged.

CHRISTMAS "CRY" CONVERT.

For greater indeed than the pleasure derived from the knowledge of increasing circulation is the joy arising from reports of men and women being blessed and converted through reading the Christmas "War Cry." There have been several instances of this kind, we know; here is a sample:

A young man bought a copy of the special number from a Cade. He was greatly interested in what he read, especially in the poem, "Were I But Home To-night," by Mrs. Staff-Captain Arnold. This so clearly described his own miserable condition and ardent longing, that on Sunday (January 4th) he came to the Army Hall at Chester (Toronto) and at the Penitence-gave himself to God. He afterwards told his story to Captain Parsons, the Corps Officer.

Captain Martha McElmoye, who has been on furlough, is appointed to assist Adjutant Magee at North Battleford, Sask.

Temporary Shelter in Moose Jaw.

With the coming of the winter weather there is considerable distress in the big cities owing to unemployment. In Toronto and Montreal much is being done to provide immediate relief, and in other cities similar efforts are being put forth, although, due to smaller population, necessarily on a smaller scale.

So many and urgent are the applications for food in Toronto that in addition to the tickets for meals which have been distributed during the last two or three weeks, it has now been necessary to throw open the Temple as a temporary soup kitchen. This will be continued while the conditions remain as bad as they are at present. Major Fraser says he has been feeding the hungry at the rate of nearly two hundred a day before the kitchen was opened.

At Moose Jaw the Officers, Adjutant and Mrs. Halbrick, have been helping deserving cases in their own quarters, but applications were received so fast that some further provision had to be made. An old Catholic Church in High Street was therefore being fitted up by The Army as a temporary Shelter and Soup Kitchen.

Any man who is out of employment and finds he is getting down to the end of his slender store will there be able to obtain lodging for the night at fifteen cents. Meals will be supplied at ten and fifteen cents per head. The lodging-house is being run for the man who has a dollar, but no work, and wishes to make that dollar last as long as he can.

These efforts to deal with extreme conditions of need cannot, of course, be carried on without heavy expenditure. To the Army, and we hope our friends will make it possible for the work to go on, until things improve.

Territorial Newslets.

Headquarters, Toronto.

Our readers will be glad to know that the Commissioner continues to make good progress towards recovery. He appears to be receiving considerable aid on Saturday, treatment at the sanitarium, and is full of faith for complete restoration. The Commissioner bids us again thank comrades and friends for their interest in him, and to ask for their continued prayers.

The Chief Secretary presided over the annual gathering of young women (domestics and others) who have come to this country through The Army, at Rosedale Lodge, Toronto, on Wednesday, January 7th. Mrs. Colonel Maidment, Major and Mrs. Greig, Major and Mrs. Findlay, Major McGillicuddy, Major Dyer, and others were present. Staff-Captain McNamara and Adjutant Greenland are in charge of the Lodge.

Reverting to the street collecting for winter relief in Montreal, Brigadier Rawling asks us to say that Officers and Soldiers rendered splendid assistance with the "pots," Mrs. Brown, Mrs. and Mrs. Captain Walton having done exceptionally well. Over $8,000 was raised.

Mrs. Ensign Owen of Kingston wishes us to convey to all the comrades and friends who have sent her messages of sympathy and comfort in her great sorrow, an expression of her deep gratitude. She is still in need of our prayers.

Mayor Shaw of Kingston, who took a prominent part in the dedication services of the new Citadel, opened the inaugural meeting of the City Council on Monday, January 13th, with prayer by the Rev. A. W. Shaw. This was probably the first time the meetings of the Council had been opened in that manner.

Colonel and Mrs. McIntyre of New York were in Toronto on Tuesday, January 13th, and had an interview with the Chief Secretary. Their old comrades at Headquarters were glad to see them once more.

Colonel and Mrs. Margrett, also of New York, and formerly of the Canadian battlefield, are announced to visit Toronto early in February.

Lieut. Colonel Turner, accompanied by Major McGillicuddy and Captain Van der ven gave an interesting lantern service. Adjutant Walker and his charges were delighted.

Major Gideon Miller is shortly to make an official visit to England, where he will study the methods and workings of the Property and Architect's Departments, and inspect various properties throughout the British Territory. He will sail on the "Albatross" in company with Major Dyer, on January 31st.

Major Des Brisley, Women's Social Secretary, and Mrs. Brigadier Potter were the chief speakers at a recent gathering of the League of Women of Toronto. Major Findlay was appointed to assist Mrs. Brigadier Potter in the management of the League, and Adjutant Young read the annual report.

Ensign Owen, Penfold, and Wright were present at the recent annual meeting of the Emigration Staff in London, England. They were keenly appreciated for their special mission while on their special mission in the Old Land. (Continued on Page 12.)

After The Whirlwind!

KINGSTON'S FINE NEW CITADEL OPENED BY THE CHIEF SECRETARY AND MRS. MAIDMENT—STRIKING MANIFESTATION OF CITIZENS' APPRECIATION.

SECRETARY AND MRS. MAIDMENT—STRIKING MANIFESTATION DURING WEEK-END CAMPAIGN.

OPENED thirty years ago and the fifth Canadian Corps in order of opening, Kingston has just turned over another splendid building of the Citadel on Saturday, January 11th, to the new Citadel on the city's main thoroughfare, Princess Street, was dedicated.

The Chief Secretary and Mrs. Colonel Maidment, accompanied by Major Moore, and Staff-Captain Walton, were there for the occasion, the Colonel conducting a week-end's gatherings of great interest.

Reaching the city on Saturday afternoon, the visitors were met by the Commanding Officer (Captain Smith) and the Band, with Local Army and Soldiers. On their arrival the procession halted for a brief open-air meeting in the new frosty air. A little later, on the steps of the new building, Major (the architect) handed the keys to the Chief Secretary, who opened the Citadel open for the glory of God and the salvation of souls.

At three o'clock, by which hour the building was well filled, the dedication service began, the Chief Secretary leading. A dedicatory passage of Scripture having been read, the Colonel said The Army earnestly desired that the Citadel should become a place for the forgiveness of sins, for the reconciliation of such who were estranged from God, and a home for the stranger. Mrs. Maidment then led the gathering in a hymn of thanksgiving and dedication.

Mayor Shaw (recently elected to the responsible office) said he felt an honour for several reasons to have something to do with the dedication of this fine commodious building, most of all because he was himself like the Salvationists, a sinner saved by grace. (Amens.)

"There is joy in the city to-day," he continued, "to see our Citadel opened as a place where men and women will come to know something of the Gospel of Jesus Christ, and the day that you address the people and soldiers' forget that this is the great uplifting power that in this building will be met in interest and attraction."

The old place was good, because the work was done there. This is the work of the Citadel's Committee in the

of St. Paul's (Anglican), regarded the Citadel not only as a beautiful building in itself, and beautiful for the purpose for which it had been dedicated, but as a tribute to the Christianity of the churches of Kingston. (Applause.) "If there were not good Christians in the churches," he said, "you would not have had this beautiful building this afternoon; and so I congratulate The Salvation Army that the good work which we believe they are doing through the Enthusiastic Citizens' Gathering.

Still greater interest, however, surrounded Sunday afternoon's meeting, which had been announced as a Citizens' Gathering. The Citadel was crowded, and many friends were unfortunately unable to get in at all. Mr. T. F. Harrison, who skillfully conducted the proceedings, is an influential Methodist and a Sunday School teacher in the Kingston. He had, he said, always felt deep interest in The Army. It helped to make better citizens, and better citizens helped to make better business conditions. As a Christian, too, he always felt intense interest in The Army, because Salvationists were all united in the great purpose of making good citizens for the Heavenly City.

Mayor Shaw, referring to the international service of the Chief Secretary and Mrs. Maidment, said, go where we would, we could not get away from the beat of The Army drum. The Army goes after the churches; Salvationists were individually ambassadors for Christ; and they are wonderfully successful in their work.

Mr. W. F. Nickle, M.P., after a playful aside to the effect that his own business was in the interests of The Army, were coming to be so frequent that "The War Cry" might soon be gazetted him an honorary Colonel of his business career had been to associate himself with the movement for the erection of that building.

"A quiet, dark, magnetic little man, who spoke as one who is accustomed to get his own way, called out me," said Mr. Nickle, using his opportunity of getting one back on Major Moore, "and almost before I knew it I found myself chairman of the Citizens' Committee in the power of God has won the approbation of His people in this city, irrespective of creed and church."

Mr. Fitzgerald was referring to the splendid assistance of the churches in The Army's whirlwind collecting campaign. He added that the sum of The Army was to present Jesus to the people. He liked to hear the Salvationists on the streets, and he wished every member of the Christian Church also felt the responsibility of being saved to serve.

and a Canadian, I say we trust this work will go on. We give it our blessing." (Applause.)

Magistrate Farrell said it was a pleasure to him to have that opportunity of expressing the debt he owed to The Salvation Army. Some of them remembered the work of Captain Abbie Thompson, who introduced the Movement to the Kingston meetings held in the tent and those who came to scoff but remained to pray. Many thought its work would be merely evanescent, but it has extended from one end of the Dominion to the other.

Mr. Farrell spoke of his admiration for the Officers of The Army, and for their sympathy for the fallen. They were a great help to him with many cases which are brought into the Police Court. "And a word in season works wonderful results," said he.

Mr. G. I. Campbell, of Queen St. Methodist Church, reading a few statistics in confirmation of the view that The Army was a great Organization, went on to say it was great in Social work, in Temperance work, as a labour-finding organization, and as a Christian organization. Speaking on behalf of the churches of the city, Mr. Campbell said: "You have the sympathy of all the members. There is room for us all."

Major Miller was then asked to Drunkard the First Seeker.

We have left little space to speak of the other meetings. On Saturday night, in the regrettable absence of the Divisional Commander (Brigadier Rawling), Staff-Captain Walton presided over a musical and missionary meeting. The Staff Captain has read the financial statement, and Major Moore, while speaking of the wonderful results of the Whirlwind Campaign made a further appeal with a view of reducing the existing deficit between $120 and $130 was there and then raised.

In bringing the long and interesting meeting to a close, the Chief Secretary expressed regret at the absence through illness of Commissioner Rees, who had earnestly wished to be present. (Applause.) He also expressed on the Commissioner's behalf and that of Territorial Headquarters, sincere respects to the Kingston comrades and friends for their having made that building scheme possible.

Warmest gratitude having been expressed to Mr. Harrison for his personal testimony, the Rev. Dr. Ryckman pronounced the benediction.

Walker spoke of the romance of The Army as recorded in "The War Cry." Major Moore opened the fund, and Mrs. Maidment, in a closing address, sought to bring the people to decision for Christ. It was a fact of happy significance that the first seeker to kneel at the new Mercy Seat was a poor drunkard. Will our readers pray for Dan? A young woman also came to God.

In Sunday morning's gathering the Chief Secretary's address was of the effects of union with Christ, his points being forcefully illustrated from his travels in other lands. The Editor of "The War Cry" spoke in personal testimony. Mrs. Maidment, Major Miller, and Staff-Captain Walton also took part in the meeting, in which there were four seekers.

In the evening, although there was something like a blizzard blowing, the Citadel was crowded, and many who came had to turn disappointed away. The Corps Secretary and Mrs. Captain Smith having led in prayer, Major Miller then addressed the assembly. He told the story of his conversion, the fact that he was able to refer to the presence in the meeting of one of his first Corps officers, and the fact that he was able to refer to the presence in the meeting of one of his first Corps officers, and the fact that he was able to refer to the presence in the meeting of one of his first Corps officers.

THE WAR CRY After the Whirlwind

In a searching address Mrs. Maiden contrasted the often false and faulty judgment of man with the unerring justice of the judgment of God; who sees the intention and the motive behind the word and the deed, and four souls came to Christ—three coming together, after a long and seemingly fruitless struggle. A young man who was restored after long hankering, had once been a Bandman, and has two brothers in the Band. It was touching to see their concern for him and the joy that was generally felt over his return.

Other comrades who took part included Brigadier Walker, Major Moore, and Staff-Captain Walton, and during the evening, the Chief Secretary took the opportunity of thanking all the comrades

About The New Citadel.

The new Citadel provides accommodation, in the Seniors' Hall for five hundred persons. It is well lighted with windows all round, and, finished inside in Georgia pine, presents a bright and attractive appearance. It is fitted out with steam heating plant and electric lighting.

The Juniors' Hall (seating about 250) is in the basement. Class-rooms occupy the front and back portions. The Band-room is behind the main platform; there is also an Officers' room and a small "War Cry" room. The main entrance to both halls is especially good, space having been made for the quick and easy handling of a crowd.

On the platform the usual hand-rail is missing, the architect having instead provided for a low bannister about twelve or fifteen inches from the floor, with short curtains, and a square reading desk in the centre.

History of Kingston Corps.

Kingston Corps was opened by Captain Abbie Thompson, who, recalling the event in "The War Cry" dated October 23rd, 1893, wrote: "I came on to Canada [from New York] as Captain, to open the fifth Canadian Corps. On the 28th of January, we started, on Sunday morning, four of us, marching the streets singing. The people at first seemed to be afraid of us, but before the day was over they got a little acquainted, and afternoon and night our Hall was packed, which holds one thousand people. God commenced to work. Souls were saved the first day. Since then there has been at the most six meetings held when there has been no one saved. We have been here six months and

THE WAR CRY Current Events.

Bible as Text Book.

That Canadians are neglecting the Bible is the conclusion of a writer in a Toronto paper.

"Most serious-minded people will admit that that is a bad sign for religion," he continues.

"It speaks sagaciously, but no less truly, it is a bad sign for the nation. It is a common remark of religious workers that this is a time of great worldliness, and this they regard as a consequence of neglect of the Bible. But even if thought were taken only of this world it would still be the counsel of the wise that the study of the Bible be kept up in the homes and the schools, and made more of in the churches."

Whatever other culture or science we may neglect, we cannot do without the teaching of the Bible.

Year's Shipping Losses.

The year 1913 was certainly a heavy one for shipping disasters, the monetary loss totalling thirty-five million dollars.

Not for many years have such heavy liabilities been faced by the underwriters of Lloyd's.

The most sensational disaster of the year was the destruction of the liner Voltorno by fire in mid-Atlantic with the loss of 136 souls, while over 500 passengers and crew were rescued by a fleet of eleven rescue ships.

From the financial point of view, however, the Voltorno takes a comparatively low place, for the disasters to the Clan Line ship MacKenzie, the Lampart and Holt have been more serious. The French liner Albatros and the Exochord all resulted in claims on the insurance companies for millions of dollars.

Trade with Central America.

A bulletin issued by the Trade and Commerce Department states that with the opening of the Panama Canal there is every probability that trade in the Central American Republics will increase considerably.

More stable political conditions should render possible more rapid commercial development. Presumably there will be an improvement in shipping facilities as well, all of which will elevate the importance of these markets.

The total population of the eight republics is estimated at twelve millions, and their total imports at $11,750,000.

British Migration to Canada.

The British Board of Agriculture's report on the migration from rural districts in England and Wales, proves to be a most splendid tribute to Canada.

The board made enquiries in every county in England and Wales, and obtained altogether 487 replies from officials and representative men. They have come into personal particulars as to the crops, and everywhere recommendations of Canada are made.

It is pointed out that the freer life, the easy facilities for becoming a landowner, the wider scope for energy and enterprise, and the higher wages for manual labour have proved the chief inducements.

World's Largest Aqueduct.

After nine years' work the last barrier was broken on January 10th in the Car-Sick Aqueduct, the longest water tunnel in the world. It extends 11 miles from the Ashokan Reservoir to New York City.

ARMY SONGS.

Tunes.—Ye banks and braes, 121;
Madrid, 117; Song Book, 479.

1 All things are possible to him
That can in Jesus' name believe;
Lord, I no more Thy truth blaspheme;

Thy truth I lovingly receive;
I can, I do believe in Thee;
All things are possible to me.

The most impossible of all
Is that I ere from sin should cease:

Yet shall it be: I know it shall;
Jesus, look to Thy faithfulness!
If nothing is too hard for Thee,
All things are possible to me.

All things are possible to God.
To Christ, the power of God in man;

To me, when I am all renewed,
When I in Christ am formed
again,

And witness from all sin set free,
All things are possible to me.

Tunes.—Sweet rest in Heaven, 103;
Ellacombe, 30; Song Book, 346.

2 Come, with me visit Calvary,
Where our Redeemer died;
His blood now fills the fountain,
'Tis deep, 'tis full, 'tis wide.

He died from sin to sever
Our hearts and lives complete;
He saves and keeps for ever
Those living at His feet.

Chorus.

To the uttermost He saves, etc.
God's great, free, full salvation
Is offered here and now;

Complete blood-bought redemption
Can be obtained by you.
Reach out, faith's hand, now claiming.

The cleansing flood will flow;
Look up, just now, believing,
His fullness you shall know.
